monetisation of any kinu of regal tenues intoney by private contract.

We are opposed to the polley and practice of surrendering to the holders of the obligations of the United States the option reserved by law to the government of redeening such obligations in either silver coin or gold coin.

We are opposed to the issuing of intercat-hearing bonds of the United States in time of peace and condemn the trafficking with bank syndicates which, in exchange for bonds and at an enormous profit to themselves, supply the federal treasury with gold to maintain the policy of gold monometallism.

Congress alone has the power to coin and issue money, and President Jackson declared that this power could not be delegated to corporations or individuals. We therefore demand that the power to issue notes to circulate as money be taken from the national banks and that all paper money shall be issued directly by the treasury department.

We hold that tariff duties should be levied for purposes of revenue, and that taxation should be limited by the needs of the government honestly and conomically administered. We denounce as disturbing to business the Republican threat to restore the McKinley law which has been twice condemned by the people in national elections and which, enacted under the false plea of protection, to home industry, proved a prailing breader of trusts and monopolies, enriched the few at the expanse of the many, restricted trade and deprived the producers of the great American suples of access to their natural markets.

Until the money question is settled we are opposed to any agitation for further changes in our turiff laws, except such as are necessary to make up the defict in revenue caused by the adverse decision of the supreme court on the income tax. There would be no deficit in the revenue but for the annulment by the supreme court of a law passed by a Democratic tongress in strict pursuance of the uniform decisions of that court for mearly one hundred years, that court having sustained constitutional obje

We denounce arbitrary interference by federal authorities in local affairs as a violation of the constitution of the United States and a crime against free institutions, and we especially object to government by injunction as a new and highly dangerous form of oppression by which federal judges, in contempt of the laws of the states and rights of citizens, become at once legislators, judges and executioners; and we approve the bill passed by the last session of the United States senate and now pending in the house relative to contempts in federal courts and providing for trials by jury in certain cases of contempt. No discrimination should be indulged by the government in favor of any of its debtors. We approve of the refural of the Fifty-third Congress to pass the Pacific milroad funding bill and denounce the effort of the present Republican Congress to enact a similar measure. Recognizing the just claims of deserving union soldiers, we heartly endorse the rule of Commissioner Murphy that no names should be arbitrarily dropped from the pension roll and the fact of enlistment and service should be declaive evidence against disease or disability before enlistment.

We declare it to be the unwritten law of this republic, established by custom and usage of one hundred years and sanctioned by the examples of the greatest and wisest of those who founded and maintained our government, that no man should be eligible for a third term of the presidential office. Confiding in the justice of our cause and the necessity of its success at the polis, we submit the foregoing declaration of principles and purposes to the considerate judgment of the American people. I. Fearon, of this city, on the charge of having used the mails for the purpose of making defamatory and incendiary utterances of and concerning one, Grover Cleve-land, Prevident of the United States and John Sherman, a senator of the United States.

States.

Dr. Fearon is a pronounced silver advocate and has a habit of giving empiratic expression to his views. A few days ago his attention was attracted to a clipping in the Nonparell from an Ottumwa paper, in which it was stated that the government might as well recoin its ten dollar gold pieces into twenty pieces as to make fifty cents worth of silver pass for a dollar. He wrote a postal card to the Nonparell in reply. He said that the government had gone for forty years colning silver in the good old way until a midnight conspiracy of hell birds, bribed by gold, worked up a conspiracy that demonstized silver.

Then he intimated that Judge Lynch would make short work of Grover Clevcland and John Sherman under certain conditions, etc.

This was signed by the initials "J. I. F.," and mailed to the Nonparell and brought out an editorial paragraph, it also brought out an editorial paragraph, it also brought out a deputy United sittes marshal. Deputy Marshal Hilwer went to Dr. Fearon's and asked him if he did not want to make some reply to the Nonparell oditorial. The doctor promptly repiled that he did, and then discovered his mistake and refused to talk further of the matter. He would not deny that he had written the card and would not admit that he had written it. By a little subterfuge he was States.
Dr. Fearon is a pronounced silver ad-induced to write another card and the landwriting corresponded so exactly with that of the offending card that a warrant was issued for his arrest, charging him as above named.

Why Do Prople Drink!

This subject furnished the theme of a lecture by Professor Bunge, of Basel, Switzerland, who endeavors to solve the question in a scientific manner. He holds that the main cause of the drinking habit is the imitative instinct of mankind. The first glass of beer tastes as disagreeable as the first cigar, but people will drink because others do. If once accustomed to drink there is no lack of reasons for continuing. People drink before parting, and they drink when they meet again; they drink when they meet again; they drink when they are lungry to stifle hunger; they drink when they are lungry to stifle hunger; they drink when it is hot to get cool; they drink when it is hot to get cool; they drink when they are sleepless in order to create slumber; they drink for sorrow, and they drink for joy; they drink at bapters, weddings and functals; they drink to forget poverty, sorrow and misery, and they drink to kill time. No matter what happens or tow they feel, people will drink anyway.

As the company alighted from the train at Windsor, they were met and welcomed by the mayor of the town, who presented a formal address, to which Captain Walker made, a fitting reply, saying that the Bostonians had not come to England as strangers, but as children to their motherland, who, after 250 years, ettil retained their ancient love for her. Mrs. Bayard, the earl of Denbigh, and Colonel Walker followed his example, and her majesty cordially welcomed each of them. When this ceremony was concluded, at a word of command from Colonel Walker, the visiting Ancients marched past in different formations, and the queen expressed pleasure at the smart, military appearance of the men. Her majesty then drove past the east terrace, where American ladies were assembled and bowed and smiled to them repeatedly. The indy visitors bowed in response to the queen's salutation, and there was a loud round of cheering. The queen, in addressing Colonel Walker, said: "I hope you had a pleasant voyage, and I am glad to see you here."

Colonel Wulker merely bowed in reply. Her majesty in speaking to Mr. Bayard, asked after his health, and afterwards the United States ambassador asked to be presented to Colonel Walker and the Ancients.

The queen drove away amid ringing cheers from the Bostonians, who later were entertained at a sumptuous luncheon in the royal orangery.
